

A very interesting lesson and a good overview about how regulations work, especially in a period like this, where covid is changing not also our life but also the way both private firms and public institutions act